Whitney, just wanted to let you know someone has anonymously made an open records request under statute 19.35. They indicate you have bragged on tv about being my "text buddy". Because I'm obligated by law, I've sent copies of all texts sent and received.

This is intimidation. And I'm done not responding and I've called this to attention, locally and nationally.

I apologize in advance for pulling a group text. We appear to be struggling with communication in this city—every sector including the activists. Since I can only text to 20 people at a time, I'll be making more threads. With no one communicating what, when, where which resources will provide healing and comfort, or when the decision is coming out, it leaves people to wonder. They get scared, and are more likely to behave irrational.

How might releasing a statement announcing the date/time of decision release, alongside a message of unity, and hope at the hands of not just the chief, and mayor, but all vested parties—help ease the gossiping, the fear mongering, the rumoring, and the tensions? This is our city and WE can curb the narrative but we might be more successful if we do it together.

How might continuing to not release the above statement, further increase tensions, lead to more fear mongering, and possibly transcend into more incidents/opportunities of violence later on? If a statement is released, do you think it will create room for courageous conversations to take place between opposing sides to help soothe tensions?
